

Want to volunteer?

By volunteering for the Red Cross, you are setting yourself up to be a leader. Here is what you can do:

- Train for disaster relief and join a disaster response team
- Gain leadership training and participate in local boards or work on national advisory groups
- Train to educate communities about public health and safety
- Organize blood drives and fundraisers
- Provide international assistance
- Help connect our servicemen with their families
- Serve as mentors for substance abuse prevention and other programs
- Receive internships opportunities

American Red Cross

Help Us Save Lives

What is the Red Cross?

The American Red Cross is a non-profit organization dedicated to providing humanitarian aid to those in need. We volunteer our time to help anyone who needs it whether its for disaster relief or providing life-saving blood. This has been our goal since our founding in 1881.

We are here to help needy as well as the entire community. We serve the poor, those affected by disasters, our troops and their families, and those in need of blood. Not only do we serve in the US, but we also work with other Red Cross societies worldwide.

Not only do we provide disaster relief and run blood drives, but we also support our troops by giving them the resources to communicate with their families and provide comfort for them. In addition to this, we educate the community about public health and safety.

Blood Drives

One of the easiest ways to get involved is to donate your blood. Not only is it a safe and simple procedure, but donating your blood and time can save the lives of as many as 3 people. It only takes an hour of your time. So if you want to have the amazing feeling of knowing you saved lives, donate your blood at our nearest blood drives.

For information on your local blood drives, try visiting us at www.redcrossblood.org
